This exercise demonstrates the power of a team's ability to solve complex problems when they collaborate.

The Spidernet Game

As presented during Play4Agile 2013

A pulls stronger than normal

B makes the team move around

C + D are in conflict and move away from each other

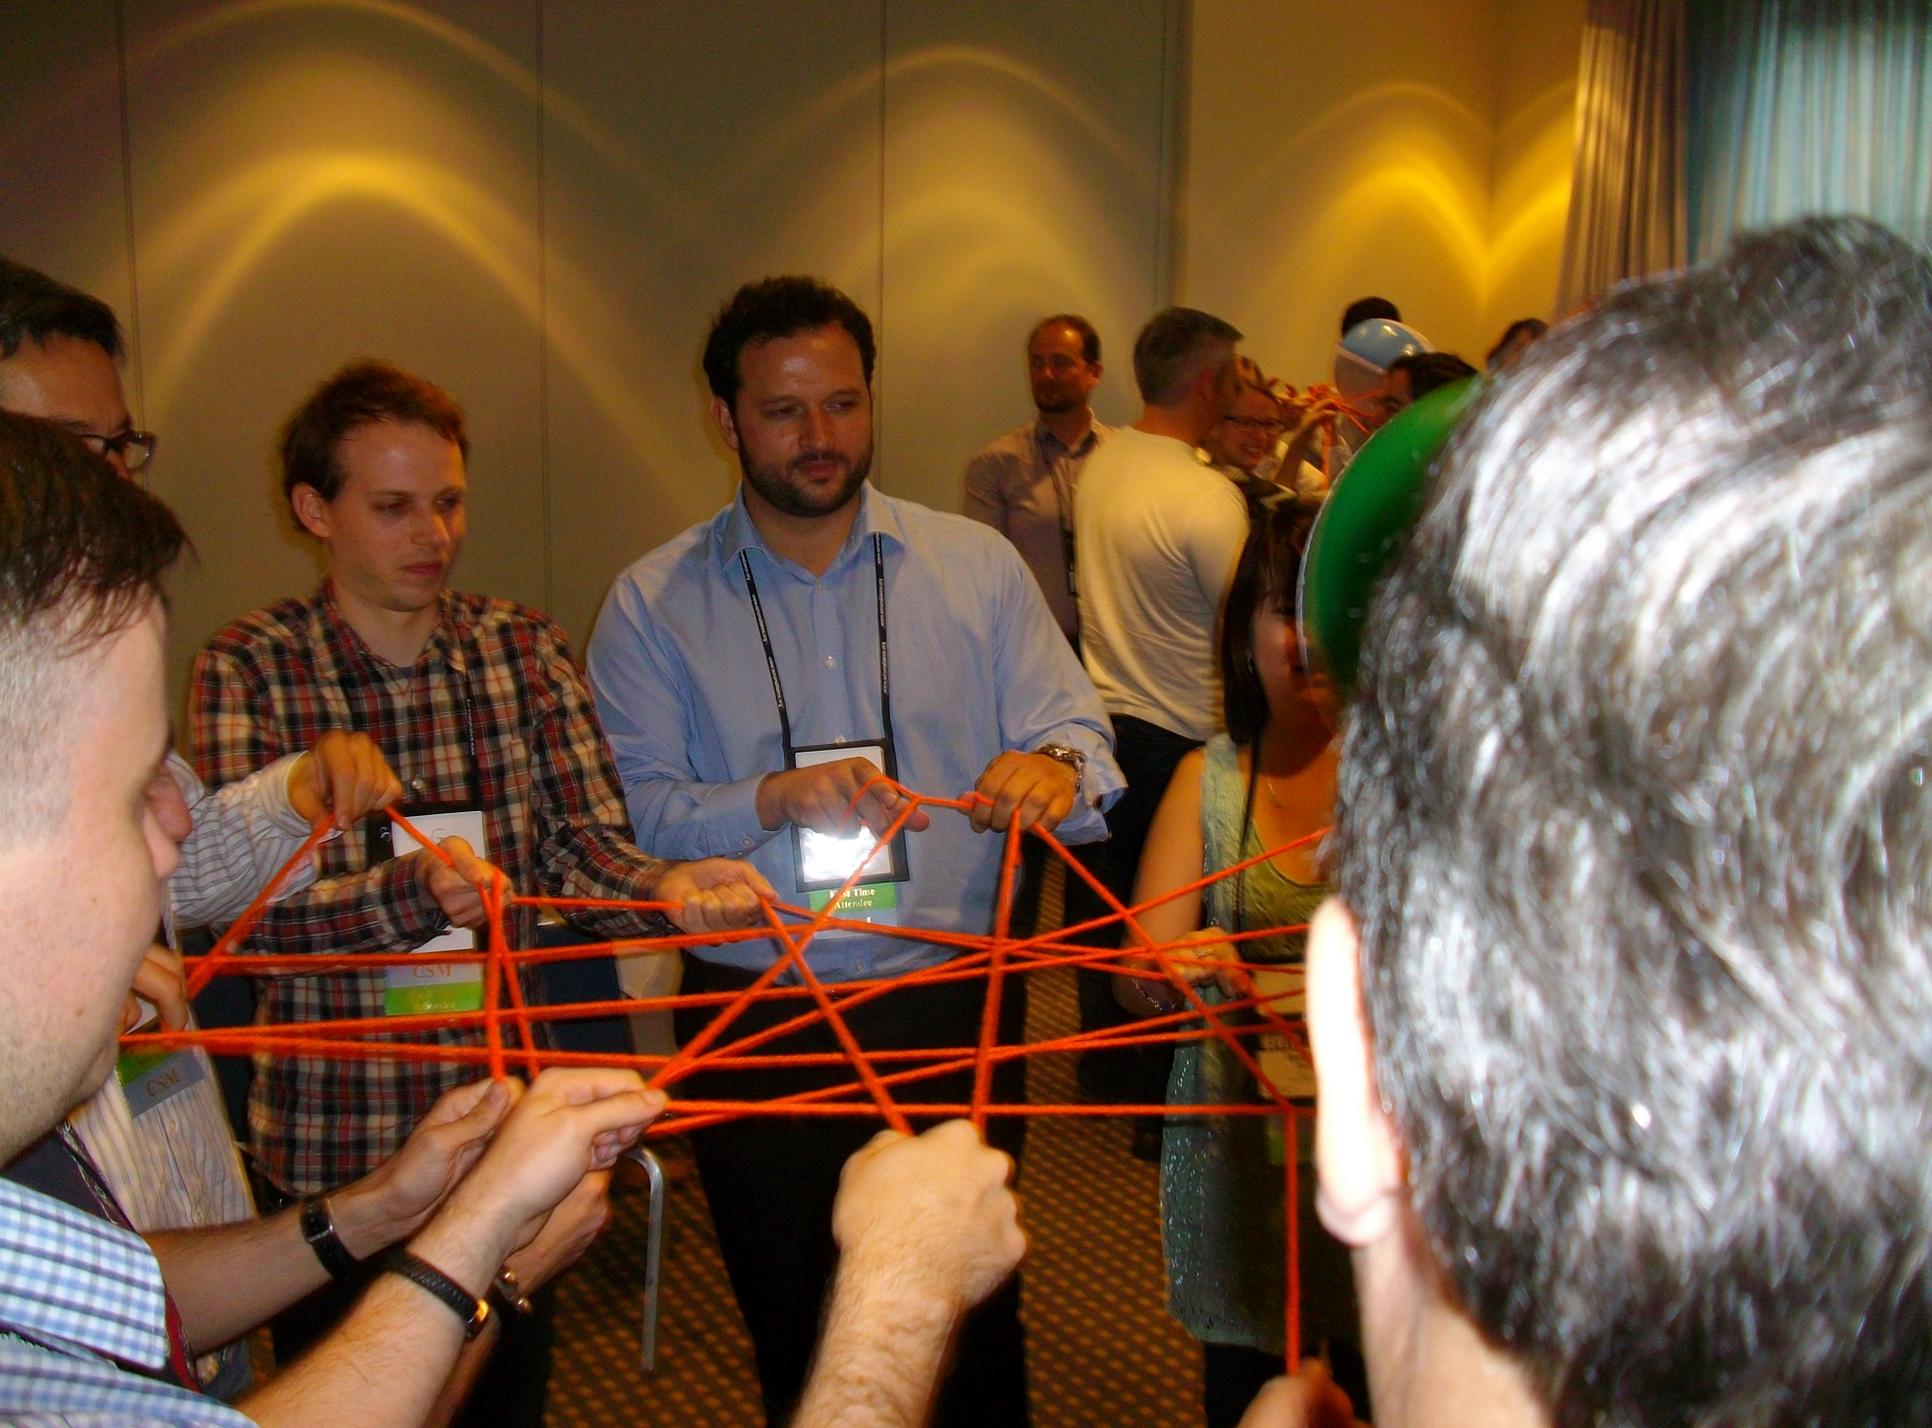

E suddenly leaves the team

F + G exchange spots

H suddenly leaves the team and joins another team

I becomes part of two teams

What did everyone observe?

What happened?

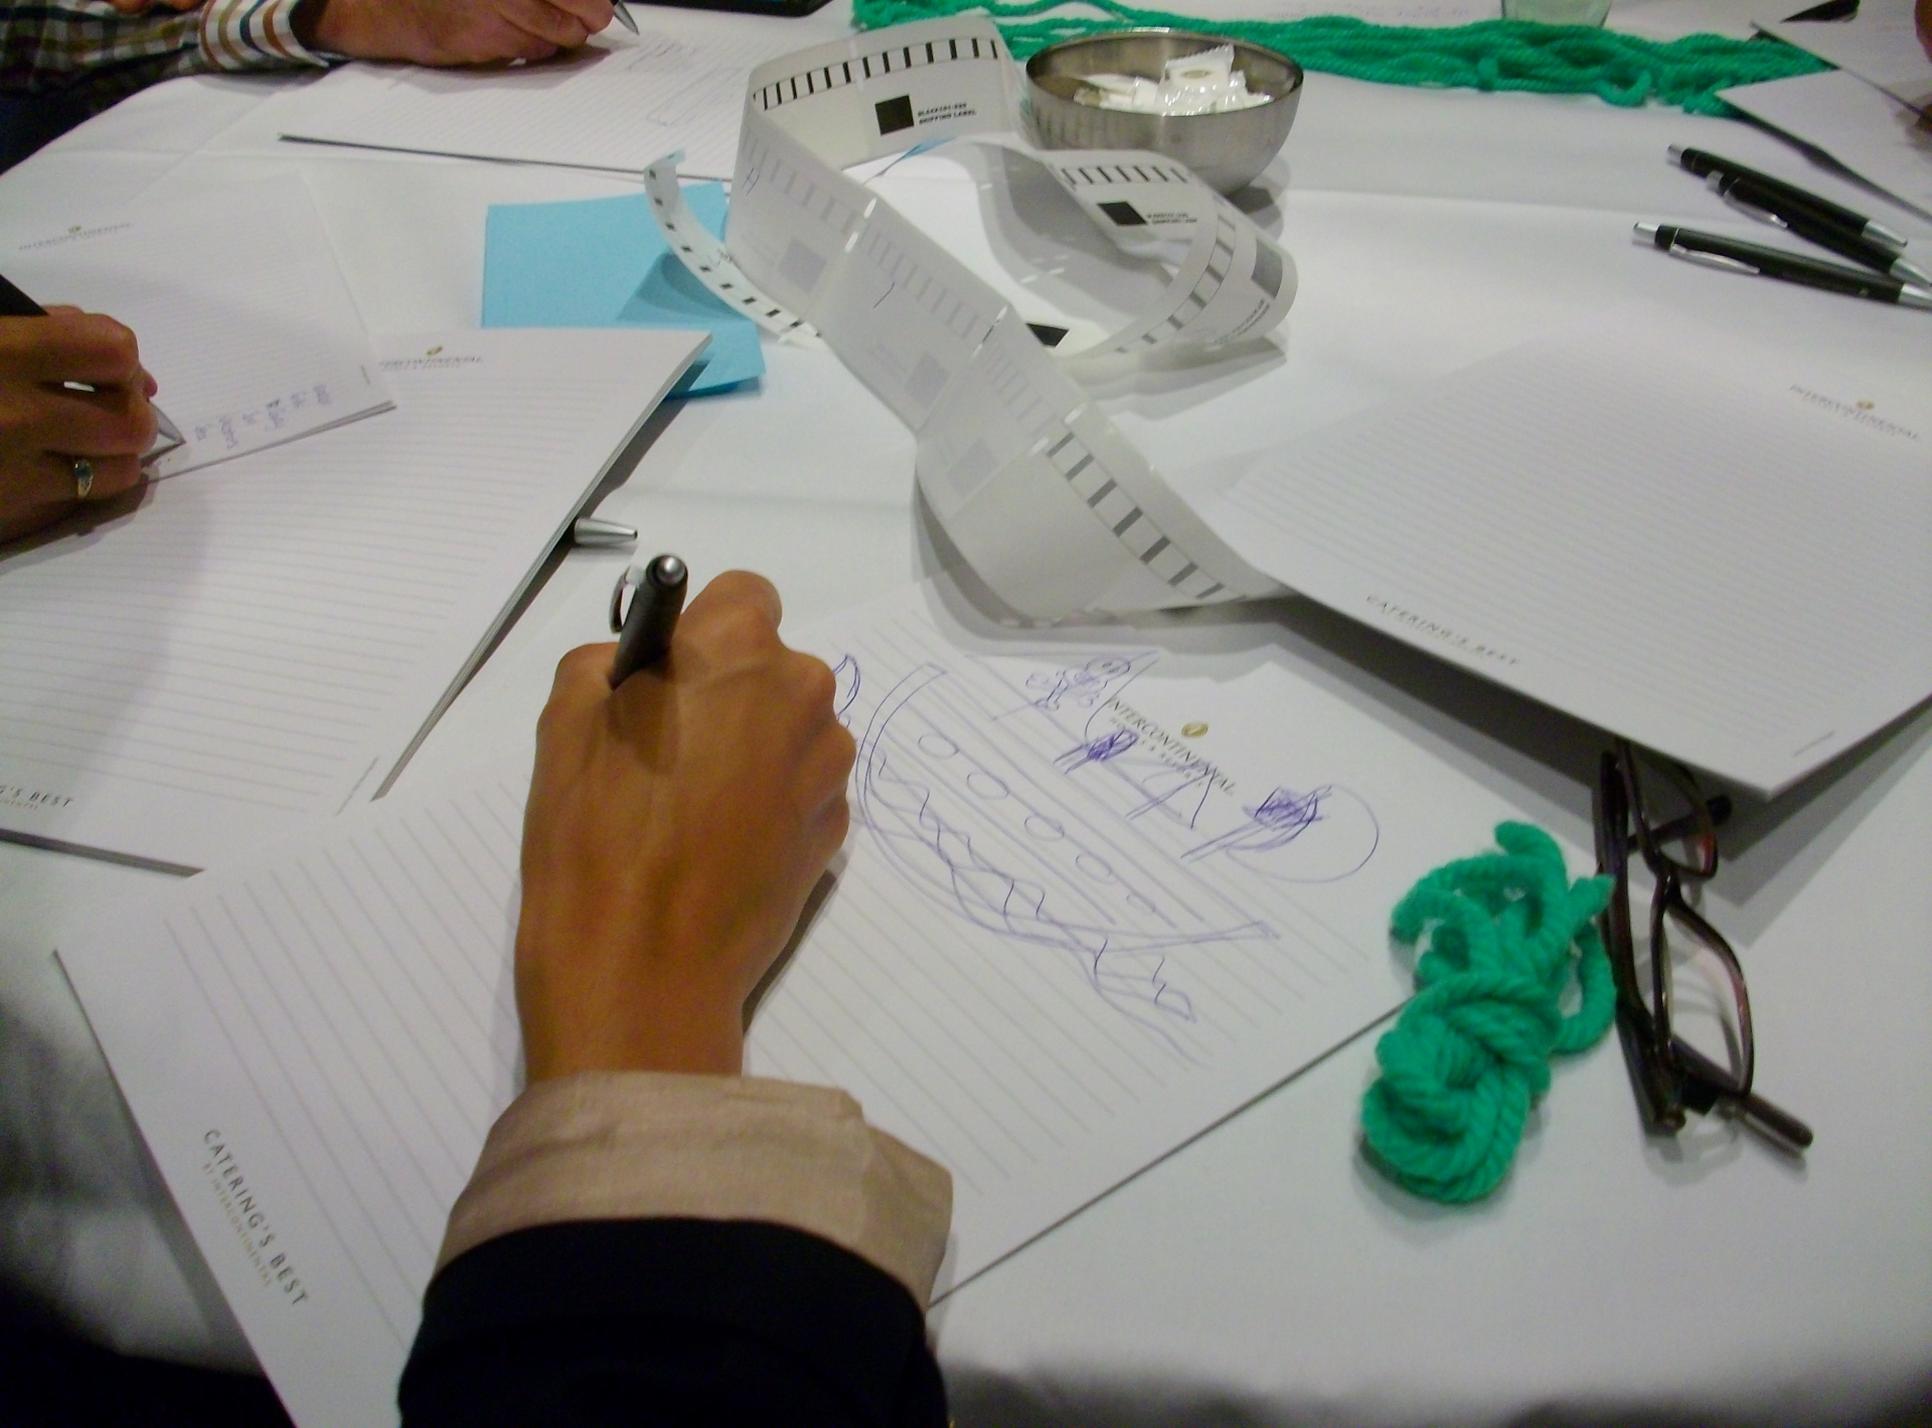

Are there similarities to your day-work?

What can this exercise be used for?

What can we learn from this exercise?

Less at a time is more in the end.

A woman with brown hair, wearing a black blazer over a black and white striped shirt, is sitting at a desk. She is talking on a grey telephone handset held to her ear with her left hand. Her right hand is holding a pen over a notepad. The background is a white wall covered with numerous colorful sticky notes in shades of orange, blue, and green. A black round clock is visible in the upper left corner of the image.

GREAT WORKSHOP

Team Members

Do a series to get a better understanding

Good & refreshing
Good to have the sheets & material maybe also to discuss could be useful

INTERESTING GAMES.

Simple, easy to do doesn't take much time so it can fit into another meeting

Overall a great experience perhaps longer for space

Good foundation OF DAY-TO-DO GAMES,
GOOD PRESENTATION

Thank you for the many games
They will be very useful for my teachers and for their discussion

Very good in the morning
Spent time with the group
Thank you

Thanks for the ball + rope
I'll use it to try the Spider Web

Well Structured + Presented

Great Variety of Games

Good ideas I can take back & mark

Fun with the understanding

Great mix of activity and talking - lots of games = good
